

Washington—Administration advisers are not shouting it from the house-tops, but the sorest economic spot in the country is Michigan and its automobile industry. This is where big banks first began to close and mobs became menacing during the last days of the Hoover administration which ended in the bank crisis.

The present administration does not expect anything so serious, for the reason that the country now has a system of relief, and additional funds have been allotted to the Michigan area.

But when Homer Martin of the United Automobile Workers outlined the situation to the President recently, he reported that relief costs in the city of Flint had jumped 212 per cent between December and January. The social security board later estimated the increase to be 285 per cent.

Martin told the President that out of 300,000 heavy industry workers in Detroit only 71,000 were employed, part of these being on part time. After listening to Martin's plea for additional relief funds, Roosevelt suggested: "Would a million a week be enough to cover it?"

This figure was tentatively agreed upon.

Auto Regulation
Governor Frank Murphy has been conferring with the President on other long-term ideas for the aid of Michigan. He believes that the only permanent cure for the State is the stabilization of the motor industry.

Last year, for instance, 5,000,000 cars were manufactured. This was accomplished through high pressure selling and easier installment terms, already the subject of a conference between Roosevelt and the motor moguls.

This year, because the motor market was oversold, only 2,500,000 cars will be produced, and of this number parts are already manufactured for 1,000,000, so that actually only 1,500,000 additional cars will be built.

Governor Murphy's ideas on auto regulation still are in a formative

PAIR SEPARATED BY TRAFFIC SIGN REUNITED TODAY

Chicago, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Marvin Seddon, and Louis Holland separated by a traffic light, were reunited today by a telephone.

Seddon, 26, and Holland, 28, the latter accompanied by his wife, were driving new automobiles from Detroit to their homes in Ogden, Utah, yesterday when a stoplight flashed behind Seddon's car and in front of Holland's. Seddon didn't know this until he had driven several blocks.

With no Holland car in sight, Seddon cruised the city streets looking for it. He became hopelessly lost and ended up in DeKalb, Ill., about 60 miles west of here.

There he remembered the name of friends of the Hollands in Chicago. He telephoned them there and arranged to meet them at DeKalb.

The Hollands were no less happy about it than Seddon. It was Seddon who had their combined bankrolls and Ogden is a long way from here.

Kennedy Sails To Take Ambassador Post In England

New York, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Joseph P. Kennedy, new United States ambassador to the court of St. James's, sailed today on the S. S. Manhattan to take over the London post of the late Ambassador Robert Wood Bingham.

James Roosevelt, son of the president, was at the pier to see him off. Kennedy sailed without his family.

"I'm just a babe thrown into the country over there, and I'm going to do the best I can," Kennedy said with a smile.

When ship news reporters asked him the inevitable question whether he would wear silk knee breeches at the formal court functions, Kennedy replied with mock gloom:

"I wondered how long I'd have to wait before you brought that one up."

Kennedy, former chairman of the U. S. maritime commission, received his final instructions from President Roosevelt in a conference at Hyde Park yesterday.

HONEST CUSTOMER

Miami, Fla., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Hialeah Park officials today called W. W. McIntyre of Detroit an honest customer.

McIntyre visited a payoff window to cash a winning ticket and received $285 too much, discovered the overpayment some time later, and returned it.

AMENDMENTS SOUGHT FOR RELIEF BILL

Would Force Most Towns to Help Finance Work

Washington, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Senator Austin (R-Vt.) attempted in the Senate today to amend the $250,000,000 emergency relief bill so as to force most communities to contribute 25 per cent of the cost of WPA projects in cash or materials.

Austin's proposal was a variation of the pending Baily amendment, to require cities to provide 25 per cent in cash unless the president found that certain local communities were unable to pay that much.

Quick passage of the relief bill was forecast when Minority Leader McNary (R-Ore.) said Republicans would support it on the final ballot.

Secretary Perkins, meanwhile reported that employment and wage earners' incomes showed a marked reduction during January.

"It is estimated that there were 1,300,000 fewer workers employed on non-agricultural jobs in January than in December," she said.

"This reduction, coupled with the declines of November and December, has brought employment down by 2,800,000 since October. x x x

"The decrease was in total wages from the December level amounted to nearly $20,000,000 a week."

Consider Minor Bills
While the Senate debated relief the House considered minor bills for less than an hour and then adjourned.

Members of both branches discussed privately an assertion by Paul V. McNutt, high commissioner to the Philippines, that he was not a candidate for any public office.

The high commissioner was asked by newsmen to comment on reports that he aspires to the 1940 Democratic presidential nomination.

McNutt, former Indiana governor, was in Washington for an official report to President Roosevelt on the far east and to attend a huge "coming out" party arranged by the Indians who are hopeful of his chances of becoming president.

A Senate-House disagreement over the relief bill was in prospect today because of the Senate's demand that the money be spent as rapidly as possible.

The Senate adopted that provision, 38 to 36, after Senator Schwellenbach (D-Wash.) pointed out yesterday that under present law the emergency appropriation would have to last until June 30.

Several senators forecast the House would not agree to the change, inasmuch as that chamber originated the requirement that funds be spread over a fiscal year.

They expected a joint committee would have to be appointed to work out a compromise.

Adoption of Schwellenbach's proposal was the signal for other senators to seek changes in the bill, and the prolonged debate upset plans of administration leaders for a final vote last night.

Senator Minton (D-Ind.) proposed an amendment permitting works progress administration employees to hold public office, a practice now banned.

Senator Austin suggested local communities be authorized to meet their share of relief costs by furnishing materials instead of cash.

Slow Hitch Hiker

Mount Vernon, Ill.—(AP)—Michael, the cat, came back after two years. He was lost in El Paso, Tex., in 1936 while the E. N. Smith family was visiting there. He was back today, calmly resuming his place in the household.

"He was a slow hitchhiker," commented Mrs. Smith.

Lawyer Who Hunts Fortunes With Law Book Expects to Get Wealth

Philadelphia, Feb. 23.—(AP)—A Philadelphia attorney who hunts hidden treasure with a law book instead of a spade expected today to add nearly $4,000,000 to his bank balance as an "informant" under Pennsylvania's escheat law.

At Michael Edelman's behest the Dauphin county court yesterday ordered State Secretary of Revenue J. Griffith Boardman to collect $16,000,000 in unclaimed corporation funds.

Walked Out

Salt Lake City, Feb. 23.—(AP)—An audience unwittingly walked out on concert Pianist Josef Hofmann here last night and today lack of programs was blamed for the situation.

Hofmann opened his program with three long movements from a Beethoven composition, then played six movements of Shumann's Kreisleriana and four compositions by Chopin.

Amid thunderous applause, he left the stage. Most of the audience left too.

When the pianist returned he found the auditorium virtually deserted. Those without programs had gone home at intermission.

ENORMOUS NAVY TO DEFEND BOTH COASTS STUDIED

Separate Atlantic Fleet Would Cost Over 3 Billion

Washington, Feb. 23.—(AP)—The navy surrounded with wartime secrecy today its forthcoming fleet maneuvers in the Pacific where more than 50,000 men and officers will test the fighting strength of 150 war craft.

Naval officials disclosed the secret order while the House naval committee heard Rear Admiral William G. Du Bose, chief of naval construction, testify it would cost $2,200,000,000 to provide a separate fleet to defend the Atlantic coast.

The navy's order barred newspaper representatives from all the fighting craft which will maneuver over the Pacific from Alaska to Samoa and the Panama Canal from the middle of March to late April.

"Confidential" Games
The decision, the navy said, was made by Secretary Swanson after conferences with Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of operations, and the fleet commander in chief, Admiral Claude C. Bloch.

The only explanation given was that fleet problem No. 19, to be worked out in six weeks of mock warfare, was "highly confidential."

Officers said that only once before have newspaper representatives been barred in recent years. That was in 1936, when Admiral Joseph M. Reeves was the commander in chief.

Publicity this year, the navy said, will be limited to interviews with Admiral Bloch before and after the war games.

Austrian Workers Rally To Support Their Chancellor

Vienna, Feb. 23.—(AP)—One million Austrian workers have signed a resolution supporting Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg in the crisis confronting him as a result of his Berchtesgaden pact of Feb. 12 with Germany's Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

One interpretation of this today was that socialist, monarchist and Jewish sympathizers were pooling forces against the feared advance of Nazi power in Austria.

At Berchtesgaden Schuschnigg, after nearly four years of opposition to the Nazis, was compelled to admit their influence into his cabinet.

CONFESS ROBBERY
Belvidere, Ill., Feb. 23.—(AP)—State's Attorney Harold Sewell of Boone county said today James Noonan, 22, and Frank O'Leary, 24, both of Harvard, Ill., confessed the $28 robbery of a sandwich shop here Sunday night. They were held in jail awaiting a hearing.

The Arizona City, owned by the Waterman Steamship company, of Mobile, Ala., and operating between Gulf ports and Europe, wallowed in a gale 135 miles southeast of Cape Race, awaiting the salvage tug Relief from New York. The coast guard cutter Chelan and the Halifax salvage tug Foundation Franklin stood by, the cutter still unable to get a tow line aboard the freighter.

The Lydia and the Victor reported they were in distress last night. The motorship was bound for Philadelphia and Norfolk, Va., from Fowey, England. The Foundation Franklin relayed word of their distress to Halifax.

Gomez' Separation Suit Reaches Court
New York, Feb. 23.—(AP)—June O'Dea Gomez, who is suing for a separation from Vernon "Lefty" Gomez of the New York Yankees, accused him of having told her it would be easy to make her the victim of a "perfect crime" by strangling her.

This accusation against the brilliant pitcher was included in Mrs. Gomez' complaint, which was taken to court today.

She seeks $200 a week temporary alimony and $35,000 counsel fees.

State Supreme Court Justice A. J. Levy gave counsel for Gomez until Friday to file answering papers. The lawyer said they were enroute here by air from Nevada.

PREMIER'S OPPOSITION URGES VOTE

Battle on Foreign Policies of Great Britain Goes On

London, Feb. 23.—(AP)—The British Labor party and Trades Union Council issued a manifesto today demanding that the government submit its foreign policy to an immediate general election.

"The government holds no mandate for the vital change it has made in foreign policy," the manifesto declared.

(The dominantly Conservative national government campaigned for support in the election of 1935 with pledges of fidelity to the League of Nations, which Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain yesterday accused of "sham and pretence" in its efforts to safeguard European peace.)

The demand that Chamberlain's cabinet go to the country followed two consequences of the resignation of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and the substitution of "realistic diplomacy" for his "idealism." They were:

1. Failure yesterday of the opposition in the House of Commons to pass a motion of censure of Chamberlain's foreign policy.

2. Forecasts in political circles today of an early approach to Germany on the lines of the Prime Minister's "realistic" bid for the friendship of Italy's Premier Mussolini.

Await Ambassador
Joachim Von Ribbentrop, Reichsfuehrer Hitler's new foreign minister and retiring ambassador to Britain, was reported in unofficial German circles to be coming to London shortly.

Ostensibly this would be to say his formal farewell to King George, but with Eden out of the way as foreign secretary it was believed he would have "useful exchanges of views" with British leaders.

As Chamberlain moved to give effect to his policy organizations representing the opposition labor party, trade unions, and League of Nations peace associations arranged for further demonstrations like that in the House of Commons yesterday.

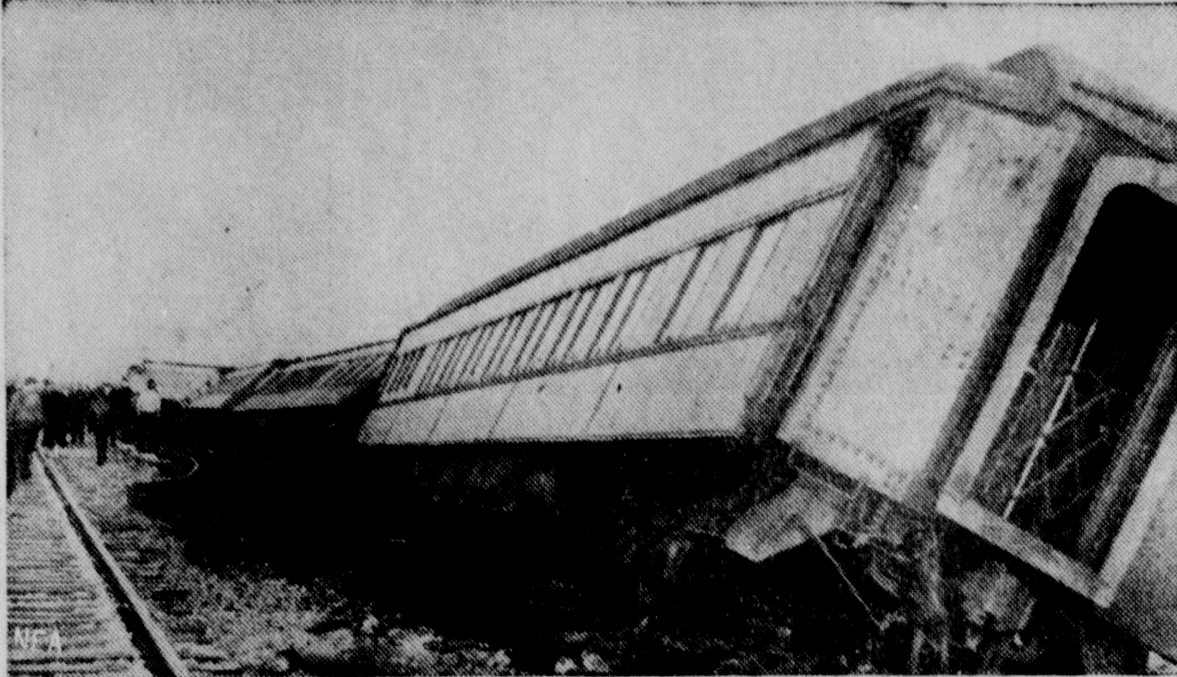

Vote of Confidence
The opposition backed the idealism of Eden, who resigned the foreign secretaryship rather than pursue Italian friendship talks under circumstances which he held would indicate Britain was yielding to pressure from the Fascist Premier Mussolini.

Chamberlain, who held it his duty to seek peace with Mussolini and Germany's Hitler and avoid "the frightful question" of war, was reassured in his policy of practical dealings by a 330 to 168 vote of confidence from the House of Commons.

The conservative party premier planned to confer tomorrow with Viscount Halifax, acting as temporary foreign secretary, and with the Earl of Perth, British ambassador to Rome, who was called back to London for instructions on the Italian talks.

Lord Perth was expected to return to Rome immediately after seeing his chief and at once to open negotiations with the Italian foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano.

RADIO STATION TAX PROPOSED

Bill May Receive Hearings Sometime Next Month in House

Washington, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Representative Thompson (D-Ill.) said today a House ways and means subcommittee expected to hold hearings sometime next month on a bill to tax radio stations.

The measure, introduced by Representative Boylan (D-NY), would impose a tax of $1 per watt on stations authorized to use not in excess of 1,000 watts, $2 per watt on those authorized to use more than 1,000 but not over 10,000 watts and $3 on those allowed in excess of 10,000 watts.

Thompson, chairman of the subcommittee, said the bill appeared to have "some merit" because radio stations use the air under government supervision and protection and pay no tax for the privilege.

The measure easily could produce several million dollars of revenue, he said, explaining that station WLV in Cincinnati, with 500,000 watts would have to pay $1,500,000. Numerous 50,000 watt stations would be taxed $150,000 each.

Thompson said the measure involved a new idea in revenue raising and that the views of the federal communications commission and the treasury would be requested at hearings.

The rates might not be the correct ones to impose, he suggested, and it might be found advisable to tax the stations on other than a wattage basis.

STORM-TOSSED SEAS DISABLE FOUR VESSELS

Boston, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Storm-tossed seas delayed relief vessels speeding today to the aid of four disabled freighters in the North Atlantic.

Two vessels, the 2,357 ton Norwegian freighter Victo and the 5,588 ton American cargo boat Azalea City, had lost propellers. The steering gear of the Latvian freighter Everhope was carried away 300 miles off Cape Race, N. F., on her way from Antwerp to New York, and the 1,200 ton British motorship Lycia, was disabled by engine trouble 750 miles east of Bermuda.

The Victo, bound for European ports from Norfolk, Va., fought heavy seas near the Azores while awaiting the arrival of the Dutch tug Sea Foam from Horta.

The Azalea City, owned by the Waterman Steamship company, of Mobile, Ala., and operating between Gulf ports and Europe, wallowed in a gale 135 miles southeast of Cape Race, awaiting the salvage tug Relief from New York. The coast guard cutter Chelan and the Halifax salvage tug Foundation Franklin stood by, the cutter still unable to get a tow line aboard the freighter.

Mr. Bleaing Yelled Himself Out of Life in Millionaire's Big Mansion

Chicago, Feb. 23.—(AP)—James Bleaing, 28, found life in a mansion thrilling while it lasted.

There was no response when he knocked at the door of the Schwinn mansion found in search of a handout. Ignaz Schwinn, wealthy manufacturer, his family and servants were in Florida on vacation.

Bleaing entered—through a window. A well stocked larder helped Bleaing get through a meal quite satisfactorily. Scented soaps and expensive toilet waters proved welcome adjunct to a bath. A pair of Mr. Schwinn's silk pajamas fit pretty well, too.

This might have gone on until the Schwinn returned were it not for a bottle of whiskey.

"That was my downfall," Bleaing explained at a police station last night. "I got stiff and really thought I was a millionaire. So, when two carpenters came to fix the window, I yelled to them to quit the racket; they were disturbing me. If I had kept my mouth shut—"

GEN. PERSHING 'BETTER' TODAY

Army Specialist Sent to Tucson to Help Local Physician

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Physicians attending Gen. John J. Pershing said today, following a lengthy consultation, that the 77-year-old World War leader "is definitely better."

A statement issued by Dr. Roland Davison after he and Lieut. Col. S. U. Marietta had completed an examination, said the condition of his heart, which caused considerable anxiety yesterday and last night following a sudden relapse, "is entirely satisfactory."

"Col. Marietta and myself have just completed an examination of General Pershing," said the bulletin. "There is very definite improvement in his condition since the last bulletin issued last night."

Is Free From Pain
"His lungs are perfectly normal. His blood pressure is definitely better. The condition of his heart is entirely satisfactory."

"He had a much better night and is entirely free from pain. He ate a good breakfast and is mentally alert."

General Pershing, 77, more than a week from rheumatism and a heart complication, was removed from his hotel quarters to the desert sanatorium yesterday afternoon, and Colonel Marietta, heart specialist, was ordered here by the war department as a consultant.

Today's consultation of the physicians lasted almost an hour.

An only son, Warren Pershing, boarded a plane at Palm Beach, Fla., this morning to rush to his father's bedside. An only sister, Miss May Pershing, also remained close to the general.

FOREIGN MILITARY OBSERVERS
Foreign military observers drew this picture of the military situation which has developed since the fall of Nanking in December:

Observers Picture
The Japanese advance northward from Nanking toward Suhow, heart of the Lunghai corridor, has bogged down, with more than a 150-mile gap between the Pengpu column and Japanese in southern Shantung province.

In central Anhwei province Chinese and Japanese are deadlocked in a series of bitter engagements, with Japanese unable to make an appreciable advance north of the Hwai river.

Japanese columns have captured Wuhu, up the Yangtze from Nanking, and Hangchow, important seaport south of Shanghai, but have been unable to advance farther because Chinese guerrilla bands have bothered the continually. Guerrillas have been active in the entire Hangchow-Nanking-Shanghai triangle, holding up supply shipments and forcing Japanese to use part of their forces to garrison communication lines.

In the past 10 days, Japanese have suffered a distinct reversal in the Hwai river area. After crossing the Hwai with heavy losses, Japanese reached a point 25 miles north of Pengpu 10 days ago. Today, however, both Chinese and Japanese reports said heavy fighting again was in progress along the banks of the stream, with Chinese holding the dikes on the north bank opposite Pengpu.

World's Only Horse Marines Disbanded

Peiping, Feb. 23 — (AP) — The world's only "horse marines" passed out of existence Tuesday. This mounted detachment of the United States embassy marine guard passed in last review before a record crowd of Americans and other foreigners at Beckenridge field before disbanding forever. The "horse marines" consisted of 30 expert sabremen, all crack pistol and rifle shots, commanded by one officer. The detachment was first organized here in 1912 to protect Americans living outside the embassy quarter in Peiping's narrow lanes. The government's decision to split the Peiping embassy guard, transferring half its personnel to Tientsin to replace the departing 15th infantry, caused the famous mounted marines to be disbanded.

Conference For Uniform Truck Laws Favored

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 23 — (AP) — A proposal of Wisconsin authorities that representatives of five mid-western states meet next month to discuss uniform truck laws was received favorably by Illinois officials here, although the opinion was expressed the problem could be met more effectively through the creation of legislative traffic commissions in the states. Senator Louis J. Meigs of East St. Louis, chairman of the Illinois uniform motor vehicle law commission, said that although the body would be pleased to meet with representatives of any state on the subject, the recommendations of a special legislative traffic commission were more likely to bring results than would the recommendations of other bodies.

FEDERAL GRANT TO AID SCHOOLS IS RECOMMENDED

Advisory Committee's Suggestions Given Con- gress Today

Washington, Feb. 23—(AP)—President Roosevelt transmitted to Congress today a report of the advisory committee on education recommending new federal grants of $855,000,000 to states during the next six years to improve their public schools.

The grants, to begin a year hence at $70,000,000, would be increased approximately $30,000,000 each of the two following years, and $20,000,000 each year thereafter until they reach $199,000,000 in 1944-45. These grants would be in addition to the permanently authorized federal grants of more than $50,000,000 a year for vocational education.

The report said the recommendations were based on "more than a year of exhaustive study." Roosevelt appointed the committee in 1936 under the chairmanship of Floyd W. Reeves of the University of Chicago.

General Conclusions

In its general conclusions, the committee found:

"The public school system in the United States greatly needs improvement. Glaring inequalities characterize educational opportunities and expenditures for schools throughout the nation.

"The level of educational service that can be maintained under the present circumstances in many localities is below the minimum necessary for the preservation of democratic institutions.

"Federal aid is the only way in which the difficulties in this widespread and complex situation can be adequately corrected."

The committee proposed division of the new grants into six major categories, as follows, the first sum being for the starting year of 1939-40 and the second for the maximum in 1944-45:

Six Categories

1—General aid to elementary and secondary education, $40,000,000—$140,000,000.

2—Improved preparation of teachers, $2,000,000—$6,000,000.

3—Construction of school buildings to facilitate district reorganization, $20,000,000—$30,000,000.

4—Administration of state departments of education, $1,000,000—$2,000,000.

5—Educational service for adults, $5,000,000—$15,000,000.

6—Library service for rural areas, $2,000,000—$6,000,000.

The report emphasized that the first item should be distributed among the states in proportion to their financial needs. The share of wealthy states, it said, must be small if the schools are to be materially improved in poorer states.

Among the more significant recommendations were proposals that pupils of parochial and other non-public schools share to a limited extent in the grants.

Equal Distribution

Part of the general aid fund, it said, should be spent in such schools for textbooks and reading materials, transportation of pupils, scholarships for pupils 16 to 19 years of age, and for health and welfare services.

The committee recommended an equitable distribution of the federal funds between white and Negro schools exist without reducing the proportion of state and local funds spent on Negro schools.

The civilian conservation corps and the national youth administration, the committee said, should be placed under the direction of a single federal agency to be known as the federal youth service administration.

In addition to the grants the committee recommended creation of a research fund of $1,250,000 for the fiscal year beginning next July and increasing to $3,000,000 for later years.

The committee was composed of teachers, government officials, labor leaders, churchmen and business men.

Lynch Suggests Planting Trees On Unfit Lands

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 23—(AP)—Thomas J. Lynch, acting director of conservation, urged Illinois farmers today to plant trees on land unfit for agriculture.

Besides producing a valuable timber crop, Lynch said, such planting would build up and hold remaining soil intact.

The division of forestry operates two tree nurseries, which produce for sale approximately 5,000,000 young trees annually, Lynch said.

ONE KILLED, 31 HURT IN TRAIN TRUCK CRASH

Members of Kemp's Or- chestra Among the Victims

(Picture on Page 1)

Chicago, Feb. 23—(AP)—Thirty-one persons today nursed bruises and other injuries sustained in the derailment of six cars of a north-bound Wabash railroad train after the St. Louis-Chicago Limited collided with a truck at a crossing in suburban Worth. The truck driver was killed.

Seven members of Hal Kemp's orchestra were among those given first aid at the scene or removed to a hospital.

The train was about 20 minutes late and was running at high speed yesterday when it reached Worth. Frank Gregson, 40, the truck driver, apparently applied the brakes but his vehicle skidded in the snow and ice, witnesses said.

The baggage car was derailed about two blocks north of the crossing. As it plunged into a ditch the car was detached from the locomotive which proceeded about a mile before the engineer brought it to a stop. Five coaches came to a stop at a 45 degree angle after tearing up a hundred feet of track.

Special Relief Train

Railroad officials dispatched a special relief train to the scene. Rescuers smashed windows to reach the imprisoned passengers.

Maxine Gray, 23, Shreveport, La., vocalist with Kemp's orchestra, was lifted out unconscious. She suffered injuries to her back and head. Miss Gray and Bruce Milligan, 26, of Boston, Mass., a saxophonist were among those taken to a hospital.

The other injured members of the orchestra were able to rejoin the band for its regular performance last night. Among the injured were the following Illinois residents:

Dr. G. J. Revard, Jr., 45, Decatur; J. W. Josen, 41, Quincy, baggage-man on the train; B. D. Bailey, 50, Decatur; Basil D. Miller, 39, Decatur; John Forbin, Joliet prison guard; Mrs. George Long, Decatur and her 20-months-old daughter, Charlene; and Mrs. Marjorie Holberg, Taylorville.

HAVE CHANCE TO PRACTICE WHAT THEY PREACH

Chicago, Feb. 23—(AP)—Little business men of suburban Oak Park who organized "Do Something About It, Inc." to see what could be done about the nation's problems, had an immediate opportunity for a practical application of the idea last night.

They planned on about 150 persons for their first banquet meeting tonight and now they must do something about 500 reservations for a capacity of 400 in the Oak Park club, said Dr. Harry J. Stewart, a surgeon and one of the most enthusiastic sponsors.

Merle H. Potter, who runs a string of roasted nut kitchens, is credited with originating the idea. He'll be the principal speaker and his remarks will be broadcast (8:30 p. m., CST—WGN).

Dr. Stewart said Harwood S. Gregory, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Oak Park village officials and many from nearby communities "joined our enthusiasm."

For Mass Lobby

"I don't know yet what we'll do about it," said Dr. Stewart. "But the idea which we hope will catch on nationally is to create a sort of mass lobby of the common people to let the government know we want something done and what."

"Trade associations, special groups and professional lobbyists certainly let their views be known, but how many just plain folks back home ever definitely ask their congressman or senator to do something about it?"

If nothing else, he said, the group hopes to "do something about public lethargy and indifference."

"And who knows," he added, "but what out of our idea may arise a really great leader of the people."

Bombers Resume Homeward Flight

Santiago, Chile, Feb. 23—(AP)—Four United States army "good will" planes took off today on their leisurely homeward flight from Argentina.

A fifth "flying fortress" was delayed for adjustments to its motors and the sixth of the group remained with it.

The planes flew here yesterday from Buenos Aires and planned today to fly only to Lima, Peru, where they were to remain overnight.

Board Bill

Baby Held as Security For Own Keep Back With Parents

Carlisle, Pa., Feb. 23—(AP)—A "board bill baby" who spent five of his eight months in the home of neighbors—held as security for his own keep—cooed contentedly today in his mother's arms.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred McAlister, farm folk from the South mountains, brought him back to his own crib in their simple five-room home after a court fight against a "lien on flesh and blood."

Three other children in the family hardly knew their tiny brother. But father and mother McAlister were happy he was back. They went to court yesterday to get him.

McAlister, 40, a World War veteran, told judge Fred S. Reese he left the baby at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Miller five months ago when Mrs. McAlister was in a Carlisle hospital.

"Two months later," he related, "when I went to get the baby, Miller told me he wanted some money for keeping it. I had never promised him any, but I thought he ought to have something."

McAlister said Miller demanded $2 a week.

"He knew I couldn't pay $2 a week, because I don't have that much," the father asserted. Asked if he did not have a pension, he replied:

"Yes, I get $50 a month from the government, but I can't do any work."

Mr. and Mrs. Miller have no children. Miller told the court he kept the baby only to get his money.

Cities, Villages Act Rewriting Is Being Commenced

Chicago—(AP)—Under the chairmanship of State Senator Thomas E. Keane, of Chicago, a legislative commission has set to work rewriting the Illinois cities and villages act.

Known as the municipal code commission, the group will revise approximately one-tenth of the laws of the state and submit its recommendations to the general assembly next January.

State Senator George C. Dixon of Dixon, who was co-sponsor with Keane of the resolution creating the commission, was elected secretary at the initial meeting yesterday. Charles P. Edwards, city attorney of Aurora, was chosen to head the committee which will consider municipal code problems of downstate cities.

TO SHOVE WITH YOUR CAR!

YOUR MILEAGE MERCHANT ADVISES...

Try to have the two cars slightly "staggered"—not exactly in line with each other. This often helps if bumpers lock, especially when the car with its bumper below can reach a drain or similar depression. Another way is for the car with its bumper on top to get up on a curb or "hump." All of that is "just in case."

Now ask the poor fellow who wants your help to get into HIGH. Tell him to keep his clutch pedal down, letting it come back gradually only after you get his car under way.

Do your pushing with your LOW gear. That's easiest on your car...for half a block. Then if the other fellow's car hasn't started, have him get into neutral and push him up to a nearby Mileage Merchant for Special Winter Blend Conoco Bronze like yours. That can't help but get him started... (the Mileage Merchant will know what to do if the battery has entirely given up the ghost). And then the rightest way to dodge further battery trouble, dangerous oil dilution—and embarrassment—is to make a point of getting sure-starting Conoco Bronze all winter! Continental Oil Co.

DEPRESSION DIZZY

There's nothing new under the sun of politics. There was the corn belt statesman who kept himself in congress thirty years by such statements as: "I am in favor of a revision of the tariff. Duties that are too high should be lowered and duties that are too low should be raised."

We have the counterpart of that in Washington today. After two conflicting statements about prices and what they should be, the president comes forth with a statement that was pressaged as something important, and says, in substance, that prices that are too high should be lowered and prices that are too low should be raised.

That ought to settle everything and to iron out all the conflicts.

On January 25, when the president said prices were too high, the government all-commodity price index was 80.8 (January 22), and that on February 15, when he said prices were too low, the last index figure was 80.1 a difference of seven-tenths of a point.

THEY DON'T LIKE ALCATRAZ

They don't like Alcatraz. It is hated and feared by every criminal who ever heard of it.

The testimony is that of a former prisoner in copyrighted articles in the Washington Post.

The silent treatment is killing and is tough on the guards too. Long-term prisoners regard their sentences the same as death penalties. Perhaps it would be more exact to say that they regard them as life sentences.

Al Capone at Alcatraz has occupied public attention more or less in recent days. Reports that he had become insane were coincident with the articles being published in Washington, and the department of justice is reported to have been jittery about the situation. As a result of reports from physicians at Alcatraz, the department issued a formal statement, which said:

"Al Capone at the present time is in the hospital at Alcatraz. He is suffering from intermittent mental disturbances. For the greater part of the time his mind is lucid.

"His condition in no wise is due to his confinement, but grows out of conditions originating prior to his incarceration.

"He is under competent medical care; the same care that any other prisoner would receive under similar circumstances. There is no present intention of transferring him to any other federal institution."

It is a matter for regret that such institutions are necessary, but we may regard it as healthful that there is one penal institution in the United States that is feared and hated by the criminal element. Alcatraz now seems to have been put on a par with "the rope" as something to be avoided. If a criminal can beat the rope he lives in hope that "the system" will set him free eventually. While there is life, there is hope in the law's delay in the resourcefulness of lawyers, and in the parole system.

If enough of the boys get out of Alcatraz to spread the news, fewer of them will be scratching at the door for admittance.

NEW MARITIME COMMISSIONER

It may seem odd to some that the president has named a man who hails from dustily arid Laramie, Wyo., to be chairman of the United States Maritime Commission.

The friends who know pipe-smoking, cleft-chinned, gray-eyed Emory S. Land aren't particularly surprised and they don't think it's so odd, either.

For one reason, Jerry Land is a man very much of the type of his predecessor, hot-tempered, straight-thinking Joseph P. Kennedy, who resigned the Maritime Commission chairmanship to become the first Irish ambassador to Great Britain. Land came up through the navy school and he knows sailing and ships from the forecastle to the bridge.

Land's rise in naval administrative lines began in 1922 when he was made chief of the materials division of the Bureau of Aeronautics. Just 10 years later he had been elevated to the rank of rear admiral and was made chief of the navy's bureau of construction and repair.

Admiral Land's appointment to the Maritime Commission last April was bitterly opposed by labor leaders, who accused him of being unsympathetic to the labor cause. The senate overrode the protests and now Land heads the commission, chosen, it is said, on Kennedy's recommendation and because like Kennedy, he can "crack down" when necessary.

THE SIMPLE WAY

Like the Greeks the Mexicans have a word for it—"ley de fuga," or law of flight.

Juan Castillo Morales, a 24-year-old soldier stationed at Tijuana, confessed that he attacked and murdered an 8-year-old girl in a crime as atrocious as any on record.

A mob of townspeople burned the Tijuana city jail and city hall in an attempt to seize Morales and lynch him. Federal troops fired into the mob when it stormed the military prison, killing three of the townspeople.

The mob was quelled for a while, dispersed in sullen groups. Further trouble looked inevitable.

The military commander ordered the killer loaded into a van and taken to the edge of the cemetery—high on a hill overlooking Tijuana. He was dragged out and in the scuffle, broke away and ran. The military escort and another—already stationed in readiness—fired. Morales went down and an officer walked over with a pistol and administered the "mercy shot." It was the traditional "ley de fuga."

Not so civilized, but simple.

PRESENT CRISIS SOWN IN LONDON THREE YEARS AGO

Interview With Schusnigg Recalled How Situation Was

New York, Feb. 23.—(AP)—The man whose handshake with Hitler has thrown Europe into diplomatic turmoil saw the seeds of the present crisis sown in London three years ago.

When the world listens tomorrow (Thursday) to hear Chancellor Kurt Schusnigg explain to the Austrian parliament the meaning of that handshake, it will be the third anniversary of an illuminating interview he gave in London after a disappointing conference with the heads of the British government.

It is quite possible that some of the statements he made in that informal interview may be echoed in Thursday's speech—that "Austria is our fatherland but our folk are German," that economic restoration of Austria is more important than restoration of the Hapsburg throne and that Austria "is through begging."

No More Money

On that London trip, the then newest and youngest of Europe's dictators finally learned that no more money would be forthcoming from the Bank of England to preserve Austrian independence and, perhaps more important, that no drop of English blood would be spilled for the same purpose.

Thus the die was cast for what has happened this past week in central Europe. Schusnigg, a prematurely gray, powerfully built Tyrolean—then just 37 years old—had come to London with high hopes. In the now almost-forgotten Rome accords, France and Italy indicated their support of Austria and it had been only seven months since Italy actually rushed troops to Brenner pass when a Nazi revolt threatened in Vienna. Only a few weeks before Schusnigg's arrival, the elaborate Franco-British proposals for pacification of Europe were drawn up in London.

And so a chain of events since that decision has led to the Schusnigg-Hitler agreement and Hitler's declaration that he would extend armed protection to 10,000,000 Germans in Austria and Czechoslovakia. In that chain were Germany's repudiation of the arms limitations of the Versailles treaty just three weeks after Schusnigg left London. Italy's invasion of Ethiopia a few months later. Germany's occupation of the Rhineland a year later and then the Spanish and far eastern wars.

The defense of Austria became less important to England, France and Russia; and Hitler, consistent in his desire for the union of Austria and Germany, had a new-found ally in Mussolini.

Had Outlawed Nazis

Schusnigg, in that interview in the Austrian embassy in London, indicated his sympathy for the Pan-German ideals and some of the ultimate objectives of the Nazis. But it was clear he hated and feared the Nazis in his own country for he had outlawed them after they assassinated his closest friend and predecessor, Engelbert Dollfuss.

Schusnigg said at that time he had no intention of having any dealings with Hitler until after conversations with all other countries as well as England and France. He wanted non-aggression and non-interference pacts—"Rome accords"—with Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and even Poland. He said the English statesmen told him they considered no other point in peace proposals more important than protection of Austria. But his fine plans were doomed because England wouldn't fight for Austria.

In that interview, Schusnigg, a deeply religious man, showed his scorn for tactics of the Nazis, but he saw alike with them when he said that "an Austrian intellectual must first of all be a good German."

Cited English Motto

To stress the point that his main concern was defense of the Catholic state he headed, and that the ideals of Nazis were then secondary, he said:

"The heirs of Chancellor Dollfuss have firmly set in their mind the old English motto—'Right or Wrong, My Country.'"

As an American, the writer felt constrained to remark it was not an English motto but a quotation from an American naval commander, Stephen Decatur, who was an enemy of the English in 1812.

"But you are all English, aren't you? Just as we Germans are in different countries," he said with a smile.

Today Schusnigg is being called a Hitler puppet and a politician conniving to remain in power at any cost on one hand and a great German patriot in central Europe on the other. Future historians may be better able than those of today to pass judgment on the man who shook hands with Hitler.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. This is only about three-fourths true. When we have met misfortune we like to hear of others who have also got it in the neck, so to speak, and we like to talk to people with mutual troubles. But often what we like most is to meet some person who has met and overcome similar troubles and who can give us a good, cheerful boost.

2. Shirley surely did not get her acting ability from environment, therefore she must have got it from heredity. Like all geniuses that come from commonplace parents, Shirley is a lucky combination of qualities scattered here and there through her ancestors. Probably no ancestor had enough ability to be a real actor but, by lucky marriages, each one added something and the child born from this chance combination of qualities far outshines any one ancestor and is a true genius.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. I think every wife should be trained to promote her husband's career unless he be a Casper Milquetoast, whose chief ambition is to have his wife feed him with a spoon. But wives of men of ambition and promise should be trained more than most wives to understand and promote their lord and master's careers. If they cooperate in this way the husbands are much less likely to become cantankerous, domineering lords and masters and more likely to become just "regular fellers."

for autos

No matter how you measure markets, the dollar volume of auto sales provides the most accurate check of spending power and advertising acceptance possible.

That auto sales in Dixon are so high is a tribute to the sales and merchandising value of the Dixon Evening Telegraph. Without the power of this paper behind your product, regardless of what it may be, sales expectancy must be low. With the Telegraph on your list you automatically enjoy larger sales volume.

The power of this paper has been demonstrated too frequently to permit question. Don't "hedge" in Dixon. List and use The Dixon Evening Telegraph consistently and your sales will be consistently good.

Scholarships To Girl Scouts Are Being Projected

Announcement has just been made by Girl Scout national headquarters, New York, that the two Girl Scout scholarships which were inaugurated at Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., in 1937, will be an annual award open to active registered members of the national organization.

One scholarship is restricted to residents of Saratoga Springs. The other is open to any Girl Scout in the country. Selection will be based on scholarship, general character and capacity. In addition to being active registered Girl Scouts, applicants must offer a diploma from an approved secondary school, or its equivalent, and must be certified in fifteen units of work as defined by the College Entrance Examination Board.

Each application, bearing the Girl Scout's troop number and accompanied by letters of recommendation from her captain and local council, should be sent to the Personnel Division, Girl Scouts, Inc., 14 West 49th Street, New York City, not later than June 10. This division of the national organization will be responsible for checking the girl's registration and forwarding the application to Skidmore College.

BRETHREN CHURCH YOUNG PEOPLE ENJOY SOCIAL

The young people's Sunday school class, which is taught by Rev. William E. Thompson had a social at the parsonage last night. This class holds prominent place in Brethren Sunday school, is active in the program of the church and has stood by the pastor and teacher in a splendid way. There were over twenty-five present last night and a jolly good time was enjoyed by all. Wilmer Gerdes and Juanita Dackey had charge of the game and they kept things moving lively and developed an atmosphere which made it easy for all to enter into the fun of the evening. Much the funny side of life was fully enjoyed it should be stated that the class discussed ways and means of helping in the building fund, and of being of more help to the church in general. Tasty refreshments were served by the refreshment committee, and at a late hour the group thanked Mr. and Mrs. Thompson for the pleasant evening in their home and after singing a hymn and a prayer by their teacher they departed for their homes.

RED BRICK SCHOOL SITE OF PROGRAM

A fine educational program will be arranged at the Red Brick school near the St. James church on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Clam Chowder Fine Dish for Lenten Season, Says Chef

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
 AP Feature Service Writer

Serve clam chowder as a final fillet at Old Man Winter.

It's filling enough to be a meal in itself. It's easy and economical to make. What's more, it is a suitable substitute for meat during Lent.

There are two types of clam chowder, each quite different from the other. One is the New England, and its devotees scoff at its rival, Manhattan clam chowder. The Manhattan, they say, is nothing but vegetable soup with a clam or two added to change its name.

We'll not take sides. Here are recipes for each. Try them yourself. First, a New England chowder to serve four persons.

Heat a fourth of a cup of chopped salt pork in butter or cooking oil. Add two tablespoons of minced onions and cook until they're light brown. Then add a fourth of a cup each of chopped celery and green pepper.

Next mix in one cup of diced raw potatoes, a third of a teaspoon of salt and two cups of boiling water. Cover and let boil gently until the potatoes are tender when tested with a fork.

Use No. 1 can of clams or a pint of fresh ones. Strain off the liquor, heat and add it to the cooking potato mixture. (Note: never cook the clams with the potatoes.)

Chop the clams or cut them into small pieces and add them to a sauce made in this manner:

Mix two tablespoons of flour with two tablespoons of butter. Add a fourth of a teaspoon of paprika and two cups of milk. Cook sauce and clams together slowly for five minutes. Add to the potato mixture and serve at once.

Manhattan, sometimes called New York chowder involves using tomato juice in place of the milk in the sauce mixture. Leftover cooked vegetables—corn, peas, green beans, rice or pimientos—may be added but care should be taken not to add so much that the clam flavor will be obscured.

Clams and oysters may be combined 50-50 in chowder. For a richer chowder use a third of a cup of cream as a substitute for that amount of milk in the regular recipe.

Sprinkle a tablespoon of minced parsley or grated carrot over the top of each bowlful of chowder as you serve it.

Senators Answer Inquiry Made By Women's League

Senators James Hamilton Lewis and William H. Dieterich have answered the query of the Illinois League of Women Voters on the clear-cut issue of civil service versus patronage presented in the Ramspeck versus the McKellar Postmaster Bills.

Mrs. Robert Collier Bourland, Richwoods, Rockford, Personnel Chairman of the Illinois League of Women Voters, wrote both Senators for their views. Senator Lewis is answered: "Let me thank you for your note and say that later the matter will receive personal attention from me." So far no further answer has been received to amplify that statement.

Senator Dieterich says in part: "I am for strict civil service in the administrative departments of municipal, state, and federal government. . . . You ask if I feel no responsibility to our party's platform in its promise to increase the merit system in civil service. I do feel bound by that promise, and my attitude in legislative matters has been consistent with it. . . . As to the two bills to which you make reference, namely, the Ramspeck and the McKellar, if left in its original form as introduced, I should prefer the Ramspeck Bill."

A new help in making democracy work is available to all interested citizens now in the program to be presented over the radio by the Illinois League in conjunction with the University Broadcasting Council. A series of programs beginning Friday, February 25, at 7:00 P. M. over WIND (560), and continuing each Friday, have been arranged with the idea of developing public interest in democracy, which the League defines as a country where there is a free press, free speech, and reasonably honest elections at reasonable intervals.

The citizen's part in such a state and the function of the League of Women Voters in helping make democracy work will be presented by such civic leaders and authorities as Mrs. George G. Bogert, president of the Illinois League of Women Voters, Mrs. Jerome Kerwin, Mrs. W. W. Ramsey, Mr. Charles E. Merriam, Miss Martha Zeigler, and others.

Further discussions will follow succeeding Friday evenings on topics particularly pertinent to the primary election of April 12. The historical approach, analyses of local offices to be filled and also of state and national offices, the question of who makes up the slate, and the significance of party labels in local and state tickets will be presented.

Mrs. John B. Allen, Radio Chairman of the Illinois League of Women Voters, has planned the programs.

Timely Hints for Dixon Housewives

Make the rod-casings and hems of your glass curtains the same width. They may then be reversed to distribute the wear more evenly.

Clean bathroom or kitchen tiles, linoleum, porcelain tubs or sinks with kerosene applied on a soft cloth. It will give the surfaces added luster.

To sprout sweet potatoes cut them in half. Place flat sides up in a shallow bowl filled with water. After several weeks a vine will develop.

Inflammations caused by insect bites may be removed by covering the inflamed area with a paste made of equal parts of soda and salt, moistened with warm water. The paste should be held in place with a tight bandage.

To set the colors in spring wash material soak the materials an hour in salt water, using a third of a cup of salt to each gallon of warm water. Hang the material up while it is dripping. Be sure to place it in the shade.

Carefully separate the whites and yolks of four eggs, and be sure to keep the yolks whole. Beat the whites, adding a little salt, then fill buttered baking dishes or custard cups two-thirds full of the beaten whites. Carefully drop a yolk on top of each cupful, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dot with butter and then bake until the yolks are set (about seven minutes). Sprinkle with grated cheese, chili sauce or catsup and serve in the baking dish.

TROOP REPORTS

Invitations have been issued for the investiture service, to be held next Monday at Lincoln school, by troop XI.

We have two new girls in our troop, Audrey Giles, who transferred from Troop VII, and Joyce Jacobs.

At present we are planning ways and means of earning enough money to purchase a troop flag. And we also decided that the color of our troop ties would be apricot.

We cordially invite anyone who is interested in our troop to attend our meeting Monday night. Both of our leaders, Mrs. Miller and Avis Orgiesen, will be invested. Barbara Hoon, scribe.

Centralia Limits Oil Wells to One in Each City Block

Centralia, Ill., Feb. 23—(AP)—The city council, in an adjourned session last night, passed an ordinance limiting oil drilling to one well for each half block.

Under the law, all property owners within this area would share in the proceeds of the well, proportionately to the amount of their land. Should two permits be sought within this area, it would be granted to the lease-holder with the largest acreage.

The law also required a $100 drilling permit and the posting of $5000 bond by each drilling contractor. Penalties were $10 to $200 fines for each day of violation.

When first discussed two weeks ago, the proposed ordinance brought protests from independent oil operators and property owners.

Half blocks will be determined by alleys. The law permits one well in each producing sand within that area, should there be more than one of these formations. Thus far wells have been sunk to the benoit sand, at about 1400 feet, but additional wells could be drilled to the McClosky, St. Peter, or other formation, if they produce in this area.

The new law does not affect drilling already under way. One of two wells within a half block, in the west end, was being brought in today.

No action was taken on whether the city should drill its own wells in the city park.

The Olney city council recently passed an ordinance limiting drilling to one well per block, at an ad-

Dear friends:

It is now a generally accepted custom to prepare the body for burial at the Funeral Home. We recommend this. Every facility is provided here. And our experience convinces us it is actually easier for the family.

However, we want to make it perfectly clear that the wishes of the family always rule.

This is mentioned as a matter of information.

Strange Conception

"The American people have developed a strange conception that they can come up here and get the federal government to build any project of project they want."

He protested against expenditure of relief funds for "country clubs, golf courses and ski" courses, and read parts of a New York federal theater play in which some senators were lampooned.

Senator Minton supported the theater project workers, telling the Senate it "ought to be ashamed of itself for sniveling, snickering and sneering" when the play was read.

subjected to hostile foreign bombardment. It was the empire's first air raid.

An hour before noon, the raiders swung over the Japanese air base on the outskirts of Taihouku, Formosa capital, and dropped ten bombs. A city of 276,000, Taihouku is near the northern tip of the island, approximately 120 miles east of the southeastern coast of China.

There was only slight damage to the field.

The raiders then bombarded points in the Shichiku province, of the western coast of the island.

News of the bombardment surprised Tokyo residents who had been told the imperial air force completely controls the skies.

The incident lent significance to anti-aircraft maneuvers which started today in the Tokyo and Yokohama districts.

INDIANANS GIVE McNUTT WELCOME TO WASHINGTON

Start Favorite Son's Campaign for Presidential Nomination

BULLETIN

Washington, Feb. 23—(AP)—Paul V. McNutt, High Commissioner to the Philippines, said today of reports that he aspires to the 1940 Democratic presidential nomination "I am not a candidate for any public office."

The former Indiana governor made this assertion at a press conference a few hours before he was to be the guest of honor at a spectacular reception arranged by Indiana political leaders who desire to give him a boost toward the White House.

Although McNutt, talking to a score of reporters, parried political questions, his followers were frank to say that they held high ambitions for him.

The handsome 46-year-old official was asked whether the Indiana group would not be "putting you out on a limb" because of the obviously political import of this afternoon's huge party.

"My friends in Indiana," McNutt responded quickly, "have never placed me on the end of a limb."

Washington, Feb. 23—(AP)—Indiana Democratic leaders, disdaining halfway measures, went into society on a grand scale today to give a "coming out" party for Paul V. McNutt, their 1940 presidential hope.

They took a good share of the Mayflower hotel for a spectacular reception late this afternoon. Invitations went to 2,700 Federal officials and other Washingtonians—"everybody who is anybody," commented one enthusiastic Indianan.

It was hinted broadly, however, that gatecrashers wouldn't be refused a chance to shake hands with the tall, white haired high commissioner to the Philippines. As a result, the hotel chefs prepared tea time tidbits for 4,000.

The Indiana visitors, who preceded McNutt to the Capital hustled in and out of their 38 suits, greeted acquaintances and holding impromptu conferences. They would not comment on the 46-year-old McNutt's own aspirations, but Frank McHale, Indiana Democratic committee man, said:

The Indianans made it plain that no formal campaign was being started at this time, but with winks and knowing looks, they expressed the opinion this was a good opportunity to put their candidate in the spotlight.

McNutt, who has held the Philippine post since he left the Indiana governor's chair last year, returned to the United States a few days ago for the express purpose of reporting to President Roosevelt on insular affairs.

Soon after his arrival this morning, McNutt arranged to make formal calls on Secretary of State Hull and Secretary of War Woodring. Friends said he probably would protest to Woodring against the transfer of Col. Davenport Johnson from Hamilton Field, Calif., to Chanute Field, Ill.

The transfer was made public immediately after Johnson used an Army plane—at McNutt's suggestion—to fly McNutt and his administrative assistant, Wayne Coy, from San Francisco to Denver. The Colonel was reported to have made the trip without special authority from Washington.

Called "Routine"

The War Department reported the transfer was a routine shift, determined on before the flight, but friends of Johnson and some of McNutt's followers argued it had disciplinary if not political implications.

The War Department was understood to have agreed not to make the transfer effective until McNutt presented his side of the affair to Woodring.

While shaking hands with McNutt, Governor M. Clifford Townsend and other Indiana leaders who greeted him at the Union station, McNutt told reporters there was "nothing irregular" about the trip to Denver in the Army airplane with Col. Johnson.

"We travel on War Department travel orders," he said referring to himself and his administrative assistant Wayne Coy, adding:

"Our checks are War Department checks. That's all there is to it. The facts speak for themselves."

He said he brought along a brief case filled with information on the Par Eastern situation collected during a visit to China several weeks ago. The information, he said, he would present to the President, probably tomorrow.

PRESIDENT WILL END VACATION THIS AFTERNOON

Chief Executive Still Silent on Situation in Europe Today

Hyde Park, N. Y., Feb. 23.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, still silent on the European situation after a conference with his new ambassador to Great Britain, will return to Washington tonight.

Ending a five day stay at his boyhood home, he planned to board a special train late in the afternoon for a daylight trip down the Hudson.

While no engagements have yet been made for him at the White House, he may see Secretary Hull tomorrow to go over the latest European diplomatic happenings upon which he declined to comment at a press conference yesterday afternoon.

Joseph P. Kennedy, who sails today to take over his new ambassadorial assignment at London, received his final instructions at a luncheon conference at the Roosevelt home just before the press interview. He stood beside the chief executive as reporters pressed questions after question about events abroad, only to receive a "no comment" reply.

Refused Discussion
So determined was the President to maintain silence he even refused to talk off the record as he is accustomed to doing at times.

Kennedy also refused to talk. The only time the President came close to expressing himself was when someone sought his comment on Secretary Hull's statement endorsing the principles outlined by President Ortiz of Argentina in his inaugural address.

Hull had called attention of Ortiz emphasis on the "ideal of continental solidarity, to the exclusion of political principles and problems which are alien to this hemisphere."

New Taxes Needed
The President said he could not comment on the Hull statement because the state department had not furnished him a copy.

On the domestic side, the President said he had set no dates for his conference on the railroad situation and his message to Congress on monopolies.

He reiterated that new taxes would have to be levied if the farm administration decided to make subsidiary payments to farmers to attain "parity" prices under the 1938 agricultural adjustment act.

Musician Slain: Seek Hitch Hiker

San Diego, Calif., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Police sought a hitch hiker today for questioning about the death of Kenneth H. Wakeford, 23-year-old San Diego musician, whose body, a bullet hole between the eyes, was found in a culvert 50 miles east of here yesterday. The musician's cornet and wallet were missing.

Wakeford's widow said her husband and the hitch-hiker set out from Pine Valley to walk to El Centro in search of work.

The Wakefords were married Thanksgiving Day at Champaign, Ill.

Wakeford is survived by a brother here, another brother, Carlos, and his mother and sister, Gladys, in North City, Ill.

PENSION AGENT WILL EXPLAIN SECURITY ACT

To give the residents of Lee county an opportunity to obtain authentic information concerning the social security act, especially the old-age insurance act, especially the old-Borman, manager of the field office of the social security board in Rockford, will be in this city tomorrow. His headquarters will be in the city council room.

"Many persons reaching the age of 65 may be unaware that they are entitled to lump-sum payment from the federal government. Others seeking to establish claims may desire advice," Mr. Borman said. "Questions regarding claims for old-age insurance are therefore particularly appropriate."

"Thousands of payments have been made to persons reaching 65, or in case of death to their nearest kin or estate, since January 1, 1937, when federal old-age insurance became operative. Lump-sum benefits amount to 3½ per cent of wages earned in commercial and industrial occupations. There is no charge for assisting any one in filling out claims forms."

Mr. Borman said that it is not necessary to be working in order to obtain an account number. However, since many employers have been known to turn down an applicant for lack of a number, it is recommended that everybody who expects to hold any kind of a job obtain an account number right away.

Persons past 65 who are working or intend to work should also have an account number if they wish to qualify for benefits under the Illinois unemployment compensation law, he said.

BELT RAILROAD AUTHORIZED TO CHANGE TRACKS

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 23.—(AP)—The state commerce commission authorized the Chicago, Aurora & Elgin railroad today to re-locate its Broadway tracks in Aurora along the east bank of the Fox river from New York street to a point of connection with the present tracks.

The railroad also was authorized to locate a terminal for its Aurora properties at or near the intersection of New street and the east bank of the Fox river.

The commission authorized the state highway division to extend federal aid route 161 over the Illinois Central railroad tracks via an overcrossing south of Mt. Pleasant. The present grade crossing will be abolished.

The highway division also was permitted to extend state aid highway No. 13 at grade across the C. B. & Q. railroad tracks two miles south of Vermont, Fulton county.

UNITY AGAINST COMMUNISM AND FASCISM URGED

Suggests Anglo-U. S. Cooperation For Democracy

Washington, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes' call for Anglo-American unity against Fascism and Communism—avowedly made in the role of a private citizen—received immediate interpretation by Washington observers today as a general expression of official hopes.

These observers pointed out that Britons who heard a radio speech by Ickes yesterday necessarily would judge these words against a background of his position as a member of President Roosevelt's cabinet.

"The community of interest that exists between Britain and America, as well as between other peoples who believe in democracy should be strengthened."

"Democracy can not live side by side in the same country with either Fascism or Communism, totalitarianism, either of the right, or the left, is alien to the spirit that dominates the English-speaking democracies of the world."

Speech Broadcast
Ickes, emphasizing that he spoke only as an individual, said the president alone is "charged with responsibility for foreign affairs."

He was reported to have written his address before the resignation of Anthony Eden, Great Britain's foreign minister, but that occurrence and the general European situation served to arouse special interest in his comments.

His speech was carried by the British Broadcasting Company to the greater part of the United Kingdom as the first of several programs by Americans.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull remained silent on European developments, but both were known to be studying them closely.

FREEPORT MAN TO OPPOSE LEO ALLEN IN POLL

Congressman Leo E. Allen of Galena, who is a candidate for reelection to congress from the thirteenth district, subject to the Republican primary, will be opposed by Anton A. Secker of Freeport, it has been revealed by announcement of the filing of the latter's petition in Springfield Monday.

The last day for filing of petitions by state and district candidates discloses that the Republican who will succeed the late Henry C. Allen of Lyndon in the state house of representatives from the thirty-fifth district, will be one of the Whiteside county candidates, as no petitions were filed for the office by either Lee or DeKalb county men.

George C. Dixon of Dixon, candidate for reelection as state senator, will not have opposition in the Republican primary.

Robber, Ex-Convict Quizzed on Murder Of German War Hero

Chicago, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Two men identified as robbers and an ex-convict were questioned today by detectives searching for the slayer of Dr. Max B. Sammet, German expatriate.

When arrested, all three carried .32 calibre pistols, the type used in killing Dr. Sammet. The victim's body was found Sunday under the porch steps of an abandoned house.

Police Captain John Stege expressed the belief Dr. Sammet, 43 years old, was slain in an automobile by robbers. He admitted, however, there was no evidence that the victim had been robbed.

KNOX ADVISES G. O. P. CHANGE TARIFF POLICY

Opposed To Government Subsidies To Anyone He Declares

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Iowa Republicans today considered the proposal of Col. Frank Knox of Chicago that the G. O. P. scrap its traditional high tariff policy.

He criticized equally the "excessively high tariff" of industry and crop control payments to the farmer, and suggested that agriculture surrender crop payments in return for tariff reductions.

Col. Knox, who was the Republican vice-presidential candidate in 1936, said in his address at the Iowa Republican Washington birthday dinner here last night he was satisfied agriculture would be willing to forego its "special privilege" provided industry would do likewise.

"It is sheer political suicide," the Chicago newspaper publisher said, "for the Republican party to continue to sponsor and support a system of indirect subsidies to industry—which is exactly what a system of excessively high tariffs is—and at the same time deny to the farmer his demand for compensating subsidy to his business."

"I do not favor government subsidies for anyone," he declared. "That is not what governments are created for. Certainly I am opposed to subsidizing one class of business and refusing subsidy to another."

Col. Knox told his Republican audience the party must change its method of raising campaign funds to regain popular appeal and to accomplish that he recommended that the Republican party declare that it would accept no contributions from individuals exceeding $1,000.

Southern California estimates the value of its tourist business to be $216,000,000 a year.

W. C. T. U. Notes

The W. C. T. U. held its annual Frances Willard memorial meeting at the home of Mrs. Paul B. Studebaker, Friday afternoon, Feb. 18, with 27 in attendance. It was guest day and each member brought a visitor. We were very glad to have the pastors of our town, Rev. Grafton, Rev. Dreger, and Rev. Paul B. Studebaker, present. Rev. H. L. Hostetter, evangelist from Detroit, Mich., also attended the meeting.

There were several inspiring talks which gave us plenty of food for thought, especially in this day when there are so many evils for our young people to face.

Feb. 17 has been named as Frances Willard Memorial day and each union holds a meeting on or near that day each year as a memorial to this great woman. Many sayings of Frances E. Willard were quoted and her favorite scripture was read.

"Forward" was the word always on the lips and in the heart of Frances Willard. Forward is the message which she would send us today over the wireless pathway linking earth to Heaven. Let us go forward in this great work for the cause of temperance.

YOUNG DRIVES TO RETAIN HIS
TALLY TITLEThreatens Lead Of Illinois Star At Present

Chicago, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Lewis (Pick) Dehner's lead in the Big Ten basketball conference's individual scoring race was threatened this week as Jewell Young began a belated drive to catch the Illinois center and retain his title won last year with the record breaking total of 172 points.

The Purdue star scored 40 points over the week end against Wisconsin and Ohio State and ran his total to 125, just eight short of Dehner's mark.

Young's chances of overtaking Dehner who has held first place virtually all season although he missed one game because of ineligibility, were enhanced by the fact that he has three more games to play compared with two by the Illini.

The defending champion's scoring spurge was the highlight of the individual pointmaking during the weekend and boosted him from fifth to second place. Ben Stephens of Iowa, in the runner up spot last week, fell to seventh when he made but seven points against Purdue and Michigan.

Hod Powell of Wisconsin was in third place this week with 117 points, three ahead of Jimmy Hull of Ohio State.

35 Points Per Game
Purdue, which regained its scoring eye in its last two encounters and a tie for the lead with Northwestern as well, also went to the front in team offensive honors with an average of 39 points a game. Michigan held defensive honors with an average of 30 2-9, a fraction better than that of Minnesota.

DISTRICT CAGE
TOURNAMENTS OPEN
IN 58 CENTERS

Steward, Franklin
Grove Centers;
Lee County

(By The Associated Press)

After scattered firing along three fronts last night a district tournament warfare that will lead to the crowning of an Illinois state basketball champion four weeks hence was promised virtually all 58 district centers tonight. Included will be the Lee county district tournaments at Franklin Grove and Steward.

Comparatively close scores resulted in opening play last night at East Moline, Siddell and Wenona. The one exception was Long Point's 38 to 5 triumph over McNabb in the Wenona event. However, the same meet produced one of the closest games of the evening—Rutland's 27 to 26 triumph over Sparland.

The other one point decision occurred at East Moline where Tampico nosed out Port Byron 24 to 23. East Moline and Wenona each had three games on their opening program, while Siddell billed two. The Indiana-Fairmount engagement provided the most action at Siddell with Indiana finally winning 28 to 23.

To promote a program of safety in the streets of Kansas City, Mo., a safety slogan-writing contest was held among the people. The city has established a record of 14 months without a child fatality in a traffic accident.

Win

An even more secure hold on first place in the Industrial league standings was obtained by the blue-clad Knack Leaders Tuesday night when they downed the I. N. U. Co. team 36 to 27 and at the same time Sterling Walz Lunch boys were knocked off by the surprising Reynolds Wires 24 to 21.

Sterling, evidently fatigued from their strenuous game with Rockford's Ambrosius quint in the Mt. Morris Independent sectional tournament Monday night, showed much more ragged form than previously. In addition Sterling was playing without the services of sharpshooting Coach Brandau of Township High, and also Burns who has accepted a position in Chicago. Brandau was overseeing his high school team in a contest with Oregon last night and was unable to play.

The Reynolds on the other hand were playing their best brand of basketball. Eddie Grove looped in ten points to lead his wine-jerseyed team to victory. The Reynolds slipped into a 9 to 6 first period lead and after Sterling rallied to tie the score at 11-11 in the second period on Miller's free throw, the Wires forged ahead again 16 to 13 at the half time.

Not Spectacular
The third period was not spectacular from an offensive standpoint but the Sterlings whittled down the Reynolds lead to 18-17 when Davidson sank a bucket a few seconds before the frame ended. In the fourth quarter Sterling grabbed a 21 to 18 advantage, the only time they were ahead during the game, but lost it to a Reynolds rally.

The Knacks exhibited their usual superiority in throttling the I. N. U. boys, but they did not show this superiority very convincingly until the second period. The Electricians tied up the count twice in the first period once on Krug's long shot from midfloor, and again on Lebre's tip-in shot. At half time the Knacks ran up a 19 to 9 advantage and practically sailed the game away.

Both teams counted eight points in the third quarter but the Utilities five was unable to open a scoring spree that would upset the leaders.

LOUIS FAVORED TO KNOCK OUT
MANN TONIGHTTitle Battle Given Little Advance Bally-
hoo

New York, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Anything, or practically nothing, can happen at Madison Square Garden tonight, when Joe Louis exposes his heavyweight title for a maximum of 15 rounds against Natie Mann, a rugged, resolute young fighter from Connecticut.

Mann, a good right hand puncher, might possibly lay one on the big Negro's chin and pick up the marbles. On the other hand, the betting is about 3 to 1 that the affair will run true to form, that Louis either will knock out Natie or slice him up like a Virginia ham.

With the house scaled from a $16.50 top, prospects were for a near sellout with gross receipts of better than $100,000. Louis always draws 'em and 4,000 were reported enroute from New Haven on special trains to watch their Mann take his cut at the championship.

One of Strangest Bouts

It is, in some respects, one of the strangest heavyweight title bouts on record. Mike Jacobs announced the match somewhat casually a couple of months ago, but nobody appeared to take much notice until the last few days. All of a sudden it seems to have dawned that Louis actually is risking his crown against one of the better young fighters.

There has been little ballyhoo, partly because of a brooding uncertainty in the minds of the fight writers. The story first went around that Louis would "loan" his championship to Mann for a time, thus relieving himself of the necessity of fighting Max Schmeling next June. But it's been decided now that that wouldn't make sense, because who is Mike Jacobs to kick a million dollar gate out the window?

No, the best belief now is that they are going at it dead on the level tonight, and that if Mann does score an improbable victory he will have to do it the hard way. He looks like a pretty tough one for Joe Louis to be taking on this close to the Schmeling engagement, but Joe's managers declare the champ insisted he didn't want a set-up.

Champions

Here's how Louis and Mann measure up:
Age—Louis, 23 years; Mann, 22.
Weight—Louis, 201 pounds; Mann, 190.

Height—Louis, 6 ft. 2 in.; Mann, 5 ft. 11 1/2 in.
Reach—Louis, 76 inches; Mann, 75.
Chest (normal)—Louis, 41 inches; Mann, 41 1/2.
Chest (expanded)—Louis, 44 in.; Mann, 44 1/2.
Neck—Louis, 16 1/2 inches; Mann, 16 1/2.
Waist—Louis, 34 inches; Mann, 34 1/2.
Thigh—Louis, 22 inches; Mann, 24.
Calf—Louis, 15 inches; Mann, 15 1/2.

Springfield And
Joliet Survive
Tourney Openers

Chicago, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Springfield and Joliet, the only junior college entries outside the Chicago area, will meet tonight in the second round of the sixth annual Illinois state junior college basketball tournament. Joliet was idle last night as Springfield won its first round engagement with Morgan Park of Chicago, 27 to 19.

The accident repeater, who comprises less than 4 per cent of the drivers in the state of Connecticut, is mixed up in nearly two-fifths of all auto accidents.

A new mirror especially for women motorists is an illuminated vanity mirror for the car. One type is mounted on the rear of the glove compartment and automatically lights when the lid is opened.

Opposition For the Goldmen

Coach Louis E. Means' Beloit college basketball team will wind up a successful court season this week-end against Monmouth and Knox college on the hardwood floors of the Illinois schools. At present the Beloiters are tied with Monmouth for the Midwest conference lead, and the result of the Illinois invasion will decide the championship.

Monmouth has won nine circuit games and the Gold Devils have eight league wins to their credit. Both outfits remain undefeated in conference competition. A clean sweep on this trip would give Beloit undisputed possession of the crown; the first time the Wisconsin team has capped that honor since 1924. An even break, providing Monmouth wins their final contest against Knox on March 1, would give the Scots first

For Love of Polly

By RACHEL MACK

Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
POLLY CHELSEY, heroine; stranded in London when war broke out.
JERRY WHITFIELD, hero; the Yankee who sees her through.
CABELL BANKS, privateer captain.

Yesterday Jerry and Banks arrive at Clitte's and strangely they observe Clitte locking his cabin door after him!

CHAPTER XIX
POLLY CHELSEY, locked away in the dreary cabin of the smuggler's boat, was finding the choppy voyage almost unbearable. She was frightened and on the verge of being seasick. Moreover she was angry with fate for winning for her the unwelcome and dangerous attention of the smuggler.

It was bad enough for him to discover her youth. But for him to suspect her of being a French aristocrat stealing home was worse. Polly, like everyone else, had heard those stories (unfortunately true) of "Bourbons" who had tried to slip back into France to recover money and jewels they had buried there before their escape. It was good sport for the rabble to catch these unfortunates in their rash and desperate efforts and seize the property themselves. This smuggler who was obviously of low French blood (mixed with evil Scotch) evidently thought he had caught just such a bird in his cage. Bad luck indeed for Polly.

"Jerry!" she murmured. "Jerry Whitfield! We're both in such a plight! I doubt we'll live to meet."

She was accustomed now to the relief and joy of knowing he had not deserted her, since all ecstasy has a way of becoming accepted happiness, no longer to be wondered at. Jerry loved her, she knew, but this was no longer enough. She wanted to be physically near him, touching him, feeling his lips on hers, laughing and quarreling with him, planning for tomorrow. She wanted to experience again the blessed protection of his big strong body at her side. In danger she had met him. In danger they had come together and discovered their love. How could she endure danger now without him?

SHE arose and tugged frantically at the unyielding cabin door, then walked to a porthole that gave, quite high, onto a portion of the deck. By climbing onto the smuggler's sea chest she was able to look out. Dawn was breaking, and she could see the sailors like gray ghosts on a phantom ship. Then she was gripped in a wonder so intense that it weakened her. She clutched at the frame of the porthole to keep from falling while her eyes stared and strained through the dawn. . . .

Two men leaned against the lugger's mast. One of them was short and slight and unknown. One of them was Jerry Whitfield. She called out to him, wildly, but her voice was lost in the rush of the wind and the slap of the canvas. Before she could form his name again he moved away, out of range of her vision. The slender man with him turned toward the porthole, stared for a moment and moved away after Jerry. He had not heard her voice, nor could he have seen anything at the dim porthole but a woman's face framed in disheveled hair, yet Polly sensed in the very turn of his wiry body that he was momentarily surprised.

They were gone now, as if they had never been, and Polly clung there while the dawn lifted, willing Jerry to return, fearful that she was delirious and had dreamed this thing.

Cabell Banks followed Jerry to leeward and they leaned against a bulkhead while they smoked a pipe of tobacco. Jerry said, "I've a feeling France is close. Just over there."

Cabell nodded. "We'll see land when the mist lifts." After a long silence he said, "There's a woman on board this tub."

Jerry turned quickly to look at him. "How do you know?"

"Saw her through a porthole. She's in the cabin. Seemed to be long there. Clitte's woman, I presume."

They smoked for a few minutes and then Jerry said shortly: "Take me to where you saw her."

THE face was still framed there, rather wildly, when they approached. Banks heard Jerry say, "God in Heaven! It's Polly!" He saw the tense face at the cabin window turn into a thing of beauty and incredulous delight, and he knew he was present at a sort of miracle—the miracle of restoration and answered prayer. He walked a little apart and turned his back while he looked at the gray sea catching the rising sun. He felt happy for his friend, and suddenly a little lonely. . . .

Jerry was saying to Polly, "Let me in!" And Polly was answering, "I can't, my darling, the door's locked. McGean has the key."

"Why are you locked in, Polly?" "I came aboard as an old woman. I had on a gray wig. Jerry, and walked with a stick. . . . And look at these clothes! Aren't they too awful? Aren't they hideous?"

"Yes! Yes, Polly love! But why are you locked in?" He spoke frantically, for he saw she was not thinking of danger, only of their amazing reunion. "Tell me everything, Polly! Quick!"

"Oh, yes. Well, Nuisance barked and I slapped him and lost my wig. And I looked up and there was that smuggler standing in the door, staring at me. He said, 'So you're a young one, after all!' Then he tied on a striped silk head scarf and said his name was Jean Clitte and that he was French, but not my kind."

Jerry said sternly, "Go away out of sight, Polly and stay till we come back to you. I must make a plan. . . . That man over there is my friend. Cabell Banks from Boston. We escaped together from a British ship at Ramsgate."

He stopped, confused. "You knew I was taken by a press gang, Polly? . . . You got that girl's letter?"

"Yes," said Polly, "or I'd not be beaming at you now. I'd be hating you. I'm no angel of forgiveness. Remember, Jerry? You told me once I was nobody's angel."

"There must have been days when you did hate me?" Jerry speculated. "Before you got the letter?"

"There were. I can't bear to think of them, I suffered so. I must say you were an awful fool, darling, to go out in the dark to help a pretty woman you didn't know. . . . Could you reach up and kiss me now?"

He could and did. Until Cabell Banks cleared his throat and sang out, "Land, ho!" and brought them to their senses.

Cabell came up to them then and Jerry introduced them to one another with ridiculous ceremony, considering the circumstances. Cabell remarked, "It seems to me I've heard of you somewhere, Miss Chelsey," in his dry comic way.

"What did you hear?" Polly asked. "That I'm flighty and jealous? That I once spoke to a strange young man on the street?"

Jerry said, "Get away out of sight now, Polly. There's no time to be bantering. We'll come back to you." He saw that she considered all her troubles over, now that he had come. He must justify her faith.

stage, but he believes one solution might be a carefully regulated motion picture monopoly which would prevent fluctuation in production.

Only hitch is that bitter rivals Ford and General Motors never would go together.

Wall Street Run-Around
Leave it to Wall Street to get around the restrictions of the SEC and the Federal Reserve Board if there is any possible way of doing it. Securities and Exchange officials are now investigating the latest Wall Street dodge of trading via London.

The system is very simple. Any one who wants to sell short or operate on lower margins has his orders placed in the New York market through a London bank or broker. This gives him two advantages. First, London banks require only 20 per cent margins, compared with 45 per cent on a purchase and 50 per cent on a short sale required by the Federal Reserve Board.

Second, it gets around SEC restrictions against short selling. Cabled from abroad, there is no way for the SEC to determine definitely whether the operation is a short sale in the first place, and no way to take any action against the foreign seller, in the second place.

The joke, however, is that the seller usually is right in New York. He merely manipulates the deal through London. At least two New York brokerage houses have worked the system out to such perfection, that they arrange all the machinery in London. Their customers merely have to walk in and place their orders.

Note—The customer has to be very well known to the brokerage house, however. It wants no leaks to the SEC.

Honor Among Thieves
In the opinion of R. E. Mahon, newspaper dealer, the Capitol of the United States is no place to trust anyone in business. Operating on the honor system, he had had two news stands in the House Office Buildings. Buyers were supposed to put their money in a box.

But after one day's sale of 115 papers netted eight cents. Mahon got discouraged and closed both branch offices. Now he remains at his stand in the Capitol in person.

Democratic Skeleton
Representative Henry Luckey of Nebraska certainly found a skeleton in the Democratic family closet when he dug up the Democratic National Platform of 1924 endorsing Louis Ludlow's idea of requiring a referendum for the declaration of war.

It was this same Ludlow resolution which so recently worried Roosevelt and Hull and was killed largely as a result of their urgent pleading.

What Luckey dragged out was the fact that in 1924, the present Administration leaders had endorsed this same idea. The chairman of the then platform committee was none other than the present Attorney General, Homer S. Cummings. Also Senator Pittman of Nevada, who as Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee so vigorously opposed the Ludlow resolution, was a member of the platform committee.

And finally, the chairman of the Democratic National Committee and presiding officer of the 1924 convention was none other than the present Secretary of State, Mr. Cordell Hull.

Merry-Go-Round
Joe Kennedy has found that the Government regards it as an unnecessary luxury for an Ambassador to ship his own car to a foreign post. In shipping his car to England, Kennedy pays the freight. . . . Bradlans in U. S. are expecting that their next Ambassador to Washington will be Pimental Brandao, present Foreign Minister.

REAL CONSERVATION
Washington, Feb. 23—(AP)—Senator Frazier (R-ND) claimed today to have the "most conservative" constituent in the nation.

This morning's mail brought a letter from Balta, N. D., stamped with a 2-cent stamp and half of another two center which had been neatly cut in two by a constituent.

Brain Twizzlers

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

You are hereby enlisted as a member of the Department of Missing Persons.

Three prominent men had grown sons. The men's names were White, Brown and Green. For the sake of identification let's call the sons White Jr., Brown Jr., and Green Jr. One of the sons was a doctor, one a lawyer and the third a doctor.

1. The lawyer often played a very well-matched game with his father, Brown Jr. called the doctor a socialist.

3. The doctor's father had an engagement once a week to play golf with another of the fathers.

4. White had been a paralysis victim since his youth.

What was the name of the lawyer?

MAIDEN SISTERS OF KING ZOG ON WAY TO AMERICA

New York, Feb. 23—(AP)—With names curiously reminiscent of Eugene Field's fabled Wynken, Blynken and Nod, who also set forth to sea, three royal Balkan beauties—maiden sisters of King Zog I of Albania—were on the high seas today en route to the United States.

Bound on a broadly-hinted quest for American husbands, the three princesses from the so-called "powder-keg kingdom" of Europe are Myseyen, 28, Ruhije, 27, and Maxhide, 26.

They are scheduled to arrive in New York Monday on the Italian liner Conte di Savoia.

King Zog himself has intimated plainly that the continued spinsterhood of the trio, the youngest of six sisters, has been a source of growing concern.

Strikingly-attractive, with wide-set luminous eyes and luxuriant dark hair, each has had suitors aplenty, but—

While eligible bachelors among the royal houses of Europe have paid the sisters marked attention inevitably they have shied at linking their ancient lineage with Albania's parliament-created princesses—sisters of the new monarch among reigning monarchs.

For it was not until 1927 that Zog, a one-time tribal chieftain from the Balka hills, an erstwhile revolutionary firebrand, proclaimed himself king.

Now that the 42-year-old bachelor monarch has selected the daughter of an American for his bride, with the wedding ceremony set for May, he has let it be known that he would consider American husbands—preferably with heavy bankrolls to bolster the finances of his tiny mountain kingdom—as "suitable" matches for the U. S. bound sisters three.

Zog is now betrothed to the countess Geraldine Apponyi, whose mother was Gladys Virginia Stewart of New York.

OCTOPUS IS A SISSY DEEP-SEA DIVER FINDS
Miami, Fla.—(AP)—The octopus is a sissy, says Robert M. Zimmerman, a deep-sea diver. Zimmerman spiked the age-old story of battles to the death of two men who go down into the sea and the many-tentacled creature of the deep.

"Octopuses are neither large nor dangerous," he reports. "They live in holes and feed on small fish and bivalves, and will flee from man."

Protest Will Of Lumber Dealer

Dubuque, Ia., Feb. 23—(AP)—If held valid, the will of the late Michael H. Sausser, Cascade, Ia., farmer and lumber dealer, would pay "dividends" on indebtedness to 25 persons, protesting relatives declared yesterday.

Sausser's will, filed with the district court clerk here, made bequests in amounts ranging from $100 to $1,000 to 25 persons, who, relatives contended, owed him money.

The will also provided that the residue of the estate be divided among the 25 persons in proportion to the amounts of the bequests.

Attorneys employed to test the will's validity by Sausser's sister, Mrs.

Susan Bisenius of White Lake, S. D., and children of another brother and a sister, said the amount of the bequests in each instance represented the amount which those named owed the estate.

Neither Mrs. Bisenius nor the 15 children of the other sister and brother were named in the will.

ASKS DAUGHTER'S SUPPORT

Los Angeles, Feb. 23—(AP)—Eleanor Whitney's father, with 72 cents to his name, wants his 20-year-old dancing daughter to help support him. Allen Whitney, in a suit on file today, charged he is enduring poverty while Eleanor enjoys a film salary of $500 weekly.

The Jacobean style of decoration lasted from 1603 to 1688.
